In 77 AD a youngish man our first BRITISH RANSOM
com`th in some distress to LONDINIUM a Roman Army Fort & settlement engaged in important trade
(minerals/cereals/etc)
in the Roman Empire Province of Britain ...

... This settlement is just putting itself together after a terrible quite unexpected attack 16 years ago in 61 AD by the British Queen

Bow`adicea-Boudicca - *she, a not un-educated woman with the Latin language at her command & her two young comely daughters are insulted by an insensitive Roman General who said he got her lands off her husband before he died - questionable
... ?*

Hopefully this Roman General was not welcomed at ceremonies for MITHRAS ...

Queen Bo`adicea-Boudicca abused set about a gigantic burning & slaying of 3 well appointed Roman British Army fortresses & budding towns manned by the Retired Roman Army Veterans
... Sadly many of them had taken British wives & had families - & mainly good relationships with tribes around
...

... The British Queen then burned the great Temple to the Emperor Claudius at CAMULODUNUM Colonia Victricensis

(Colchester)

& unnerved the mostly beneficial ROMAN administration and Traders

... (She also demolished

(Saint Alban

s

) Roman VERULAMINUM

(London)

Roman

)

The Roman Empire administration had begun to put a superb road system in all over Britain

(still the main road system used to-day)

& saw themselves as bringing civilized benefits in exchange for minerals, cereals etc & paying fairly for the goods
